You are invited to CalCAN's "Climate & Agriculture Summit: Impacts & Innovations"

March 31, 2011
UC Davis Conference Center
Registration will begin Feb. 1st

This Summit will explore some of the latest developments in science and practices in the field that show promise for both reducing greenhouse gas emissions in agriculture and for sequestering carbon.

Participants will include farmers and ranchers, agency staff, policymakers and advocates concerned with issues of climate change challenges and opportunities for California agriculture.

CalCAN Farmer Advisors Convene

On January 7th, CalCAN staff and Executive Committee were honored to be joined by 15 farmers and ranchers to discuss policy priorities for the coming year.

Topics addressed included:

- CalCAN accomplishments in 2010
- Advocating for AB 32 funding to support California agriculture's adaptation to climate change
